

User Story 1:

As a user I want to create a personalized playlist based on my interest. I want to log in to the service and answer questions about what type of playlist I am looking for. I want to specify a certain decade, music style, and number of songs that I want in the playlist. I then want the program to generate a playlist with songs that satisfy these requirements and create the playlist through my Spotify account.

User Story 2:

As a music lover, I want to use an application that allows me to generate personalized playlists based on my musical preferences and interests. The application should allow me to login and connect to Spotify to access my music library. Once I have logged in, the application should guide me through a series of pre-defined questions to help determine my musical preferences. The questions should cover various topics, such as my favorite genres, moods, decades, and occasions for listening to music.

After I have completed the pre-defined questions, the application should generate a personalized playlist based on my responses. The playlist should include a mix of songs from my favorite genres, artists, and moods, as well as recommendations based on my listening history. I should be able to save the playlist to my Spotify account. Additionally, the application should allow me to update my preferences at any time to generate new playlists that reflect my evolving musical tastes. Overall, the application should provide a fun and easy way for me to discover new music and create playlists tailored to my interests and preferences.

User Story 3:

I want to use a web application that can help me create a personalized playlist based on my unique tastes. I want to be able to log in to the application and answer questions about my preferred music style, artist, genre, mood, and other criteria. Then, I want the application to generate a playlist based on my inputs, taking into account my unique preferences and tastes. Once the playlist is generated, I want the application to create an actual playlist in my Spotify account. This will allow me to listen to the playlist at any time and on any device that supports Spotify.
